NEW LAW REGULATES OPERATION OF BICYCLES

Public Law, Chapter 294, passed by the 95th Legislature, requires bicycle operators to follow some rules. All bicyclists should know about these rules, and recognize them as good safety measures.

1. The bicycle shall be operated to the right of the road at all times, except when making a left turn. (Don't ride toward traffic.)
2. The person riding must be outside a regular and permanent seat. (No fancy tricks on the road.)
3. No bicycle shall be used to carry more persons than the number for which it was designed. (One seat, one rider.)
4. No person riding a bicycle shall attach himself to any moving vehicle. (Hitching a tow is dangerous.)
5. For night time operation the bicycle must be equipped with a lamp which will throw a white light at least 300 feet to the front, and a tail reflector which is visible 50 feet to the rear.
6. Every bicycle must have adequate brakes.
7. If the town police or town selectmen warn you about violations, don't argue, for they have the authority.
8. Failure to obey these rules may mean a fine, and the law is now.

WEST BETHEL POST OFFICE SERVICE TO CONTINUE

Rep Robert Hale announced Sunday that the Post Office Department has completed the further investigation he requested into the order issued by the Post Office Department to close the Post Office at West Bethel, and that the Department has now agreed to continue operation of the office.

BULL MOOSE VISITS VILLAGE

A bull moose was seen passing through the village about 6:40 Tuesday morning, coming up Elm Street, down Main and up Phillips Street. An hour earlier he was in the vicinity of the mill yards. Observers noted that his journey preceded the morning rush of cars of those en route to mill work, thus avoiding confusion and accidents.

Pounding of your bicycle for 5-50 days.

9. Any road or highway is a busy street today. Rules are necessary for everyone to obey for safety's sake. If you don't get killed, you may cause another to be injured or killed, by failing to obey any law.

10. This law is effective August 13. Might be wise to start practicing now.

The Week in Oxford County

COMMENTS FROM THE TOWN MANAGER'S OFFICE

Last April the Edward C. Jordan Company was employed to make a sewer survey and make a report to the Selectmen in July. On July 22 a written report of their findings, as well as costs and suggested plans were submitted to the Selectmen.

The thing that we are all interested in is the estimated cost of the project. Two sets of figures have been submitted. The first set is based on the project being done by a contractor, the figure amounting to $21,000.00 plus fifteen to thirty per cent for costs of engineering, legal advice, rights-of-way, and other contingent factors. The second figure is $41,000.00 based on the work being done by local labor of the Highway Department.

The fifteen to thirty per cent should be added to this cost figure also. In summing up the costs, the possible minimum would be $47,500.00 with the maximum $66,300.00.

Their conclusions are that West Bethel can be sewer in the following manner: A gravity sewer for the Route 2 and Old Ferry Road area draining to the River, and a septic tank in the vicinity of the gravel pit behind the woodworking mill should be constructed.

A gravity sewer constructed on the Flat Road draining to a low point near the school. This line should be brought out behind the school where a septic tank and subsurface disposal system could be installed. Eventually an ejector station and force main should replace the septic tank and disposal field.

The plans are at the Town Office and anyone interested in this proposed project may come in and look over the proposed plans at any time.

Sincerely,

Harold L. Bean

FISH AND GAME FIELD DAY MOST SUCCESSFUL

—73 PRIZES AWARDED

The Mount Abram Field Day was held at Bryant Pond Friday and Saturday, Aug. 2 and 3. It was a great success. Mr. Swanson, the turkey shoot with a score of 51. The prize was a 25 gauge shotgun.

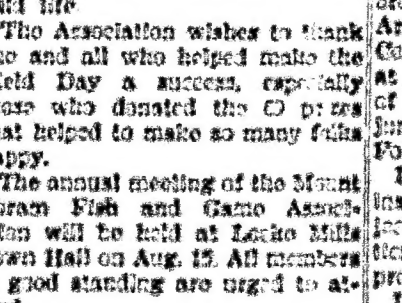

Seventy-three prizes were awarded. The Mercury Mark 6 outboard motor was won by Carlton Saunders of Bethel; 20-30 rifle by Walter Newell of Bethel; steam iron by Florence Bryant of Norway; and the electric fry pan by Arthur "Spec" Guernsey of Bethel. Other prizes ranged from cash to haircuts, motor oil to hair tonic, and from Maine game to a three minute telephone call from Bryant Pond to any place in the U. S. A.

The conservation booth was an added attraction this year, lined with evergreen and sporting two deer heads, a Woodland Caribou head, a large bobcat, two fish, and a set of deer horns with 20 points. In this case any point that would hold a finger ring was counted as a point, however not all of the points were one inch long as the state department counts them.

Two old rifles leaned on the walls, both 45-70's. One was a sporter and one was Army issue. The State loaned an exhibit of wild life.

The Association wishes to thank one and all who helped make the Field Day a success, especially those who donated the 10 prizes that helped to make so many folks happy.

The annual meeting of the Mount Abram Fish and Game Association will be held at Locke Mills Town Hall on Aug. 15. All members in good standing are urged to attend.

From the Harvard Herald, Harvard, Massachusetts Secretary of Agriculture Benson points out that over a period of 25 years we have spent something like $12 billion on the federal farm-aid program. He then says, "These costs undoubtedly would be borne willingly if the program solved the problems, but the problems have not been solved." Furthermore, he continues, all that spending has made "little or no contribution to the problem of low-income farmers."

The Wall Street Journal, in a lengthy editorial based on the Secretary's statement, sums up the varied reasons why federal intervention in agriculture has been a failure. The most basic of these reasons, in its view, "... is the assumption of farm legislators and administrators over the years that they could defy, indefinitely and with impunity, the laws of the market place." The classic example of this was the continuation of rigid 80 per cent of parity price supports for basic crops long after the emergency conditions brought on by World War II had passed, with the vast surpluses that resulted. Summing up, the Journal says, "... the goal must be a gradual return to a free market in agriculture. No other conclusion, indeed, is possible."

Even in this period of arbitrary and unrealistic price supports for the basic field crops, other major crops have moved in the free market to the advantage of all concerned. The outstanding example is livestock. There have been seasons and years when livestock prices were lower than producers liked — just as there have been seasons and years when meat prices were higher than consumers thought reasonable.

But the prices, whether high or low, were determined by the natural law of supply and demand — not by fallible human beings.

From the Tallahassee Tribune, Tallahassee, Alabama: We with politicians would stick to their knitting instead of meddling with the great American game of baseball.

Like that congressman from New York who proposed that the batter be given four strikes. He says "home runs, base runners, lots of action" make the game more exciting. Well sir, some of the laws passed by some of these queer dealers over the past twenty years have made the game of trying to run a little business "more exciting" but they sure have increased the ulcer crop.

Happenings That Affect the Future of Every Individual — National and International Problems Inseparable from Local Welfare.

"One of the most persistent issues of modern times is the controversy over defense organization at the seat of government," writes Colonel J. D. Little, United States Marine Corps, in the July issue of United States Naval Institute Proceedings. "To ensure the issue is a clear-cut one and centers on the question of whether or not our nation should discard the Joint Chiefs of Staff as the top military single chief of staff and supreme planning agency and replace it with the Prussian-German type general staff system."

In 1917 Congress established the JCS system and specifically forbade adoption of the supreme general staff system. Ever since, efforts have been made to change the law and authorize the appointment of a single chief of staff. As Colonel Little points out, there are superficial attractions in this plan. And one danger, in his view, is that "it develops because it offers what so many seek — an easy, simple solution to a very complicated problem."

For instance, the fact that in actual combat, troops require a single commander to be used as an argument in support of the single chief of staff concept. But, as Colonel Little charges, field commanders do realize how high their rank or important their command are and are responsible for determining the nation's basic strategy. They only implement it. "This," he charges, "is the very danger of the JCS system — that it is a danger to the nation and to the world."

LIFE LINES

PIED PIPERS IN THE PATHWAY
There are two kinds of people who are called "piers" in the pathway of life. One is the pier that is built by the hand of man, and the other is the pier that is built by the hand of God. The pier that is built by the hand of man is made of wood and stone, and it is subject to decay and destruction. The pier that is built by the hand of God is made of living stones, and it is indestructible.

It is the pier that is built by the hand of God that is the only pier that can save us from the perils of life. It is the pier that is built by the hand of God that is the only pier that can give us a firm foundation for our lives. It is the pier that is built by the hand of God that is the only pier that can give us a sure footing in the stormy sea of life.

'HEY, QUIT ROCKIN' TH' BOAT'

SALLY KENT, R.N.

By Fran Pachter

"REPORT to third floor north," was Supervisor Cone's brusque order. "You'll be in full charge of the children's wing."

Sally attempted a protest but Miss Cone cut in abruptly saying, "Mrs. Kent, I give the orders here and expect them to be carried out. Your husband may be an important man on the staff, but I run my nurses." Dismissing her, she appeared to disregard the stricken look on Sally's face. Upon Sally's leaving the office, Miss Cone picked up the phone and asked for Dr. Kent. Her voice lacked the brusqueness she had exhibited to Sally as she said, "Dr. Kent, I just gave your wife her assignment and it upset her dreadfully. I feel like a dog. Are you sure this is the right thing to do?"

His answer came forth clear and positive, "I've tried everything else. This has got to work." Sally stood for a moment outside the closed door. Outwardly she appeared calm but her racing thoughts revealed her tension. I can't do it. I just can't. Didn't Miss Cone realize that the loss of her own status in this very hospital still hurt? Of course no one knew that she had avoided all contact with children since then because she resented their good health and their being alive. Walking down the hall to her assigned ward she re-experienced the same type of gripping fear she had felt as a student nurse when she faced her first operation. She had to get hold of herself. This was much the same kind of test. The childish laughter coming from the ward filtered out to her and she prayed for courage.

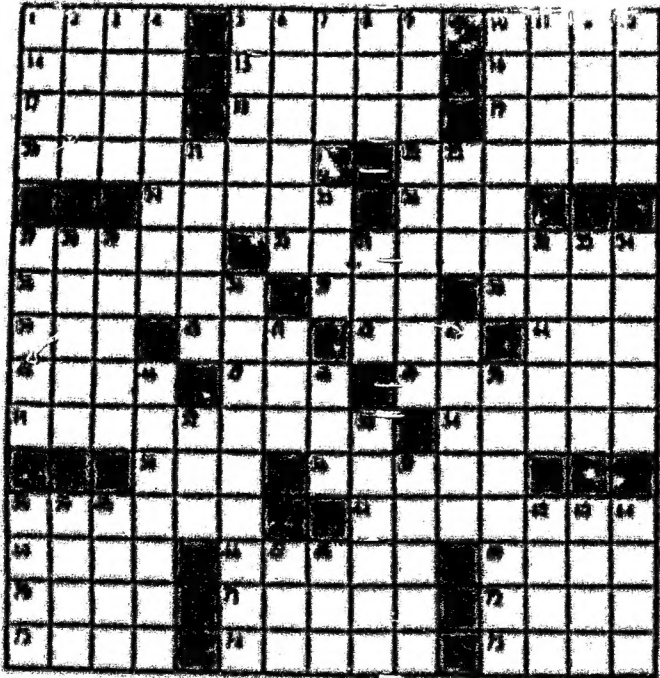

The nurse in charge introduced her to the children, then turned and left. For a moment the chorus of little voices in greeting seemed to reach Sally from a far distance as she stood for a moment, appraising the scene. Her last visit here had been as a visitor. Her eyes strayed to that far corner bed that had held her Donnie.

A new face looked at her replacing the familiar one she half expected to see. The youngest child called to her. "Hi, Mrs. Kent. Remember me? See I've still got the toy you gave me." He held aloft a mechanical monkey and Sally felt her heart gripped in a tight fist as a suffocating feeling came over her. That toy she had brought to Donnie on that last day, but he'd never seen it. Donnie had been gone from the room before she arrived! That had been over three months ago and quickly came the thought: This poor little fellow has been here all that time! She quickly busied herself with the charts wondering as she did, where had he been those three months?

She put off approaching that bed until last hoping by so doing to master cheerfulness she didn't feel. The old bitterness held her fast along with that often asked question: why had Donnie been taken? Finally she found herself at the foot of the bed that had held her son. She stared at the chart with unseeing eyes until the lady voice penetrated.

"Mrs. Kent, I'm sorry about your boy." The lady's words along with her clear blue eyes penetrated her back to the present. Suddenly the wording on the chart made sense. Rheumatic Fever! How odd! The same disease that had struck down Donnie. From somewhere deep within her came a new found courage and a determination that this lad would not die. Somehow she'd spare some mother the agony she had endured. Life in that moment took on meaning for Sally. She rumpled his red curls and teased a smile to the small rosy face. The grin she received in return lightened the heavy load she had been carrying. She uttered up a silent prayer of thanks for the profession she had chosen. Sally Kent, R.N., had a job to do.

The simplest activities offer wonderful footage for the movies that will be the history of family life.

Make Movies of History in the Making

When it comes to recording "family history" in the making, there's really nothing quite like a home movie camera. And more and more families are finding out how much shared fun and pleasure home movies provide—both in the taking and in the showing that proudly follows.

These, in our opinion, are reasons enough for this popular trend. But we keep feeling that two other factors may also have had something to do with making home movies "better than ever". First, there are the marvelous new easy-to-operate movie cameras now available so inexpensively—and secondly, many home movie makers are becoming aware that even the best movies are improved by a little editing.

To return to the new cameras for a moment—we'd like to tell you about two of them we're quite impressed with. One is considered by many movie enthusiasts as the best little camera-for-the-money now on the market. It's a quality camera—a maker of really fine film movies—that won't strain the family budget because it costs just under $33. With its fast pre-set lens, this camera makes movie taking as easy as snapshooting. There's only one simple setting according to the built-in exposure guide—and you're ready to aim and shoot. Easy, isn't it?

Another wonderful new 8mm movie camera combines fixed-focus simplicity with the extra convenience of magazine loading. It's compact enough to fit into pocket or purse, and so light in weight it's an ideal traveling companion wherever you go. Again, it offers 8mm film economy, but the film comes in pre-threaded magazines that permit the easiest, fastest loading possible. Though this model has all the versatility of more elaborate equipment, it's priced just below the $100 mark.

Taking advantage of the lower prices on cameras like these, many families have made home movies a regular part of their leisure-time activities. They shoot the youngsters playing out in the backyard, a happy birthday party, a swim in the bright sunshine, Junior's first day at school, a trip to a museum, a sandlot baseball season, a romp with Rover. Whenever and wherever the family's doing things they enjoy, Dad or Mother catches the story on film from start to finish—the complete story in full action.

HOPE TO RETAIN NATIONAL GRANGE HEADQUARTERS
BUILDING IN WASHINGTON

Congressman Robert Hale has introduced legislation to preserve the National Grange Headquarters which the Federal Government proposes to destroy in erecting a new office building.

"I shall do everything I can to ward enactment of this bill," Hale said, "because it is entirely unnecessary for the Government to remove the Grange Headquarters in order to construct its new building."

"The Grange building is serving a worthwhile purpose in the interest of the American farmer, not only as Grange Headquarters, but also as an office for many other farm organizations and publications," he said.

"Grange members from Maine and throughout the country raised funds to purchase the property through the serving of lunches and dinners, apron sales, penny suppers and amateur plays."

"The Headquarters has an important location within a block of the White House and bordering historic Lafayette Square. I hope we can obtain passage of this legislation to keep it there."

GILEAD

Mrs. Florence Holder, Cor. Clayton Bryant of Lakeport, N. H., spent the week end at his home here.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark Leighton are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son Monday at the St. Louis Hospital, Berlin, N. H.

Stephen McLain underwent a serious surgical operation at the Veterans Hospital, White River Junction, Vt., Monday. Mrs. McLain visited him Tuesday afternoon.

The Bethel fire department was called here about 3 o'clock Sunday morning, when the 1951 Ford car near the camp of Fred Caron. It was feared that fire would spread of Clayton Bryant was burned to the camp and nearby woods.

Both the Congressman and Mrs. Hale have been active in attempting to prevent what Hale terms "the desecration of historic Lafayette Square by the erection of a modern office building which could be located elsewhere in Washington."

Seek State's Top 4-H Alumni For 1957-58 Honors

WOULD you like to nominate for special honors a former 4-H Club member who has become an outstanding citizen? This is now possible through the National 4-H Alumni Recognition Program being conducted by the State Extension Service, and sponsored by Olin Mathieson Chemical Corporation, Plant Food Division, Little Rock, Ark. To be eligible, candidates should have performed some outstanding service, made a notable contribution to the community, state or nation, or displayed exceptional leadership. The person need not now reside in your state. There are more than 21 million former 4-Hers throughout the country, and undoubtedly the beneficial influence of 4-H training and ideals has affected the lives of every one. Among them are men and women whom you know as friends and neighbors—such as farmers, housewives, the family doctor, teachers, local business men and legislators. By sending in the name of a qualified 4-H alumnus, you may pave the way for well deserved recognition. Two winners from each county will be named for special recognition certificates. Four outstanding persons will be honored in the state, and will receive a burnished copper and walnut plaque. Eight men and women will be honored during an impressive banquet at the national 4-H Club Congress in Chicago next December. Besides the expense paid trip, each one will be presented with a gold 4-H alumni key, the national award. The 1958 candidates also will be selected at this time. So don't delay—fill out the form below, clip and mail today.
